

A Kitchener in business etiquette 101

By ASHLEIGH THOMPSON

Business etiquette isn't just for the upper echelons of corporate life. It's a skill that can help you in any situation, from a business meeting to a social gathering.

I will be held in the 10th floor of the building at 1000 W. 1st Ave. in Spokane.

The first rule of business etiquette is to be on time. If you are late, it is a sign of disrespect. If you are early, it is a sign of respect.

The second rule of business etiquette is to be polite. Always use "please" and "thank you." Be courteous to everyone you meet.

The third rule of business etiquette is to be professional. Always dress appropriately for the occasion.

Our Masseuses

We are happy to welcome our two new Registered Massage Therapists to the CSI

Jason C. Jones

Jason completed his three year massage therapy program at Centennial College in Scarborough in 2001. He worked in Ontario for over three years, working in two primary locations: a rehabilitation clinic and a high end fitness and martial arts. In both positions he was primarily doing deep tissue massage on motor vehicle accident victims and sports injuries. He also received a Rehabilitation Massage Therapy certificate from another 180 hour course taken at Centennial College to further his rehab skills. Jason worked in Muskoka for two summers doing relaxation massage, and wrap therapy in two different relaxed spa settings. He then moved to Kitchener to move out of the busy city, and to be closer to family, and continued working as a massage therapist. In November of 2005 he opened up his own business where he works along side a chiropractor on primary posture issues and pain associated with office work. Jason is available to give you a massage on Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 9:00 am - 4:00 pm.

Josh Holden

Josh graduated from the Canadian College of Massage and Hydrotherapy in 2001 and started his private practice in the Bruce Peninsula in 2003. He then spent three years as a physiotherapy/rehabilitation clinic in Kitchener Ontario from 2001-2004. From 2004-2006 he worked at several resorts and spas in Central Canada. Josh is available to give you a massage on Wednesdays from 2:00-5:00 and Fridays from 10:00-4:00.

Evening appointments available by request for both therapists

WHEN DATING TURNS DANGEROUS

Are you abusive?

Have you every wondered why you sometimes feel as though you must have control over your partner's actions, relationships, and behaviour? In other words, are you aware that abuse may be taking place in your relationship? You may be emotionally abusing your partner without understanding what you are doing or why you are doing it. Or you may understand what is happening, but not know how to stop.

- ❖ Do you put fear in your partner by smashing things or by using looks, loud voices or gestures?
- ❖ Have you ever hit, slapped, grabbed or pushed your partner?

Lumbar tattoos may come back to haunt you

By STEVE GREGG

In the past 100 years, the lumbar tattoo has faded into the time bubble. In some, increasingly popular tattoo parlors, you can find:

Many years ago, before tattoos became popular, many prostitutes would get tattoos on their backs, but it was not a sign of their occupation. However, that is not the case anymore, usually.

As time has gone on, many of the tattoos on the backs of women with tattoos "should" fade, it is said. It is said that the tattoo fades away over time, during childbirth.

"Some doctors will refuse to do it, and others don't feel that it will make a difference,"

Steve Gregg

Some doctors believe that when they inject the needle into the skin to do a tattoo, the tattoo needle will cause some damage to the skin, so they get the tattoo. However, it is said that the tattoo will fade away over time.

A 30-year-old woman shows off her trendy lumbar tattoo. Differing on the lower back is now being questioned because it could prevent a woman from having an epidural anesthetic during child birth.

Since Pluto has been stripped of its planetary status, our solar system no longer consists of nine planets

PLUTO RECONSIDERED

On Aug. 24 the answer, in Latin's population, has changed drastically.

For those aged under 18 who have been taught that our solar system consists of nine planets, everything they know about our solar system is being challenged. And, in the process, they are being taught that our solar system is not what they were once taught.

On August 24, one of the objects once known as planets, was physically reclassified by the members of the 28th IAU General Assembly. The smallest planet was stripped of its planetary status, by the International Astronomical Union (IAU). Pluto's demotion, reported on a study of the IAU's back, is the only official body that can make a decision on planetary status, including the "dwarf planets" which have been added to the list of planets. According to the IAU's definition, an object must be in orbit around the Sun, have enough mass to be round, and have cleared its orbit of other objects.

The first condition is the object must be in orbit around the Sun. The only object that is not in orbit around the Sun is the asteroid 2003 UB 313, which was found in 2003.

It is still in a state of flux, in the opinion of some astronomers, which means it is not a planet. The first and most controversial condition is that the object must have cleared its orbit of other objects. Pluto has not done this.

Alan Stern, the principal investigator for NASA's New Horizons mission, said that Pluto is a "dwarf planet" because it has not cleared its orbit of other objects. Stern said that the only reason to classify Pluto as a "dwarf planet" is because it has not cleared its orbit of other objects. He said that the IAU's definition of a planet is "a body in orbit around the Sun that has enough mass to be round and has cleared its orbit of other objects." He said that Pluto does not meet this definition.

"It's arbitrary what we call the objects in space. It is what we can learn from their data matters."

Dr. Bruce Fegley

Senior research scientist

NSA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory

redefining Pluto into the "dwarf planet" category.

The IAU stated that the category "dwarf planet" was created because Pluto was not in a position to be considered a planet.

Although the general public seemed to believe Pluto's status was unimportant, the dwarf planet's official status has been a subject of controversy since its demotion in 2006. "Pluto has always been a bit of a puzzle," said Stern.

Conservatives reopen marriage debate

The Prime Minister is looking to table a motion to review Bill C-38, the Civil Marriage Act. The Tories are hoping to restore the traditional definition of marriage by following through on a pre-election promise to revisit the issue

By CHRISTOPHER HILL

When Canada's new Parliament opens in Ottawa, the Conservative government will have a lot to do. One of its first jobs will be to review the Civil Marriage Act, the 1999 legislation that gave gay and lesbian couples the same rights as heterosexual ones.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper said last week that he would like to see the act reviewed. He said he would like to see the act reviewed by a committee of parliament and possibly by a constitutional court.

Individuals have been shown to be more likely to engage in health-promoting behaviors when they are aware of the health consequences of their actions (e.g., Wagenaar et al., 2001). Thus, the first objective of the present study was to determine whether the use of a health-related computer program would increase awareness of the health consequences of alcohol consumption.

What is a true friend?

In a world full of falsity and phony friends, a genuine friend is hard to find. Once you do find a true friend, you can count on him for support, understanding, and a lot of love.

Real friends are those who will help you in any way, even if it means taking a risk. They will stand by you in any way, even if it means taking a risk. They will stand by you in any way, even if it means taking a risk.

Friends don't have to be exactly the same. The secret to a successful friendship is not only to expand on similarities but to accept each other's imperfections.

During the next year, you should give your friends the love and support they need.
